during the first year of my university course that I was asked to buy '3000 solved problems in physics' by Alvin Halpern. At that time, we attended lectures where we took notes, before having 'supervisions' in pairs with an academic or doctoral student. We were given a series of problems in the first lecture and our supervisors set us these problems to complete.

Schaum's "3,000 Solved Problems in Physics" answers all three requirements and does more. The solution is shown directly under the problem. The idea is that you put a piece of paper over the solution while you attack the problem. Here's a sample problem from the Chapter on "Coulomb's Law and Electric Fields" to show how the reasoning is given.
