Green was born on 12 December 1837, the son of a tradesman in Oxford, where he was educated, first at Magdalen College School, and then at Jesus College, Oxford, where he is commemorated by the J. R. Green Society, which meets several times a term and is run by students from the undergraduate body. He grew up in a high-church Tory family from which he rebelled as early as 1850, being "temporarily banished from his uncle's house for ridiculing the uproar over 'Papal Aggression.'".

The History of Green Tea. 01 Sep, 2018. If one were to study green tea in any detail, rather than finding a concise history of discovery and a subsequent spread across the continents, green tea's history is much more convoluted and many different versions and legends abound regarding the discovery of tea. What can be verified, however, is that tea was discovered in its greenest form over five thousand years ago.
