Ancestral lines are very simply, the lines that run through your family from your ancestors to you, and then down to your children, and so on. These ancestral line are so important because the energy that your ancestors carried runs though you and into your family. So for example, some people have loads of brown eyes in their family, or red hair runs through the family or perhaps it is a medical issue, breast cancer, and heart disease, these things all run through the ancestral lines.
