Dancing Winds by James C. McCrae - Goodreads

Commissioned by the Catskill Woodwind Quintet. The title is descriptive–the instruments express themselves as dancers and also relate to each other in dance-like fashion. The piece is in four sections, and the textures and tempi resemble a baroque dance format of slow, fast, slow, fast. The slow first movement, "Andante molto," features the quintet as a composite instrument, with long phrases created by different pairings amongst the group....Although dissonance is present, it is ...
