Dereliction of Duty: Lyndon Johnson, Robert McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Lies That Led to Vietnam is a 1997 book written by H. R. McMaster, at the time a major in the United States Army. The book presents a case indicting former U.S. President Lyndon B. Johnson and his principal civilian and military advisers for losing the Vietnam War. The book was based on McMaster's Ph.D. thesis at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Dereliction of Duty (book) - Wikipedia

Dereliction of Duty is a groundbreaking analysis of how and why the United States became involved in an all-out and disastrous war in Southeast Asia. Meticulously researched and based on transcripts and personal accounts of crucial meetings, confrontations, and decisions, it is the only book that fully recreates what happened and why. H. R. McMaster pinpoints the policies and decisions that got the United States into the morass and reveals who made these decisions and the motives behind them ...

Dereliction of Duty: Johnson, McNamara, the Joint Chiefs ...

His compelling thesis is that the top military brass, specifically the Joint Chiefs, were derelict in their duty to ensure President Johnson received their unvarnished military advice, i.e. that victory in Vietnam would require massive application of troops and firepower to succeed. Otherwise, withdrawal was the only option.
