Maneri (c. 1263-1381), born in India, was one of the most famous Islamic saints and one of the greatest Sufi masters. The Hundred Letters is a basic presentation of his teachings for spiritual advancement.

Considered the leading poet on the South Asian subcontinent, Faiz Ahmed Faiz (1911-1984), winner of the 1962 Lenin Peace Prize, was an outspoken opponent of the Pakistani government. This volume offers a selection of Faiz's poetry.

This volume joins together in English for the first time the two editions of Sir Sayyid Ahmed Khan's classic account of the monuments and environs of precolonial Delhi. Translator Rana Safvi's annotations and appendices trace the historical development of the text between 1847 and 1854, before the cataclysmic events of 1857 changed Delhi forever. The volume includes sketches from the original Urdu edition. It is a valuable resource for urban historians and scholars of Delhi's monumental history.

This insightful collection—and sole translation—of letters from eminent Indian Sufi Sharafuddin Maneri presents his written replies to vast numbers of people during the period 1346–68. Maneri spent the last 40 years of his life in Bihar Sharif, India, in service of others, bringing comfort to the hearts of thousands. Offering personal guidance and encouragement to a variety of individuals, this compilation of his writings does not discuss Sufism outright but instead explores a man who, through his wide breadth of knowledge, spiritual wisdom, sensitivity, and compassion, encompasses the very meaning of Sufism.

This is the English edition of a trilingual biography of Subhas Chandra Bose, the German and Japanese editions being the other two. The aim of the biography is to place Subhas Chandra Bose in a correct historical perspective with regard to his much publicised revolutionary activities, and to provide an understanding of an extremely complex man, much maligned by Britain and greatly misunderstood by her allies.
