Hesston has been known as the hay and forage innovator since 1955, when the company developed the first commercially available self-propelled windrower. Other industry firsts have included the first hydrostatic windrower, the first center-pivot mower-conditioner and the first big square baler—which had nearly 50 individual patents of its own. Today, Hesston products continue to lead the way ...

“One icy winter’s evening in Budapest, a man runs straight into John Taylor as he walks home through the narrow streets. John falls over into the snow and looks up at the man’s face. ‘I felt very afraid. Because what I saw was me. My face looking down at me. My mouth saying sorry.’ Who is the man, and how will John’s life change?”

Round the World in the Wrong Season, by Eric T. Wiberg - Written between 1994 and 2009, is a memoir of global travel and an unfulfilled college crush. The book follows the narrator out of school and across the Pacific. At only 23 he has command of a 68-foot Burmese-teak kech built in Scotland thrust upon him. The owner is on a voyage home to his death, and along the way they hire sailors twice the skipper’s age. They makes it to New Zealand in a storm which sinks seven yachts, then spends months shearing sheep and writing a memoir. By the time the narrator makes a rendezvous with his college sweetheart (who has been teaching Thai students on the Burmese border), she seems to have all but forgotten him. This leads to a less than satisfactory denouement and puts at least one of them in the hospital. The book includes extensive photographs and hand-drawn charts and a detailed bibliography. It is over 400 pages in length, perfect bound in cloth. More www.wrongseason.net and www.ericwiberg.com
