The failure, and hope, of Muslim politics in India

From there Ahmed goes on to dissect idioms of "backwardness" associated with Muslims in contemporary India, the "politics of triple talaq", to exploring "the internal configuration of Muslim communities, especially the formation of a new middle class". Expatiating on these internal nuances, Ahmed suggests, is important even as we need to move away from both the hegemonic, if also monolithic in their own ways, narratives of Islamic terrorism or Muslim backwardness and victimhood.

The All-India Muslim League was a political party established in 1906 in British India. Its strong advocacy for the establishment of a separate Muslim-majority nation-state, Pakistan, successfully led to the partition of India in 1947 by the British Empire. The party arose out of a literary movement begun at The Aligarh Muslim University and was formed in Dhaka many years after the death of Syed Ahmad Khan who was central figure for the formation of the University. It remained an elitist organis
