Short Cuts is a 1993 American comedy drama film, directed by Robert Altman. Filmed from a screenplay by Altman and Frank Barhydt, it is inspired by nine short stories and a poem by Raymond Carver. The film has a Los Angeles setting, which substitutes the Pacific Northwest backdrop of Carver's stories. Short Cuts traces the actions of 22 principal characters, both in parallel and at occasional loose points of connection. The role of chance and luck is central to the film, and many of the stories

Permanence seems out of reach; some great apocalyptic event is on the horizon, and people view the future tentatively. Robert Altman's "Short Cuts" captures that uneasiness perfectly in its interlocking stories about people who seem trapped in the present, always juggling. The movie is based on short stories by Raymond Carver, but this is Altman's work, not Carver's, and all the film really has in common with its source is a feeling for people who are disconnected - from relatives, church, ...

'I look at all of Carver's work as just one story, for his stories are all occurrences, all about things that just happen to people and cause their lives to take a turn... In formulating the mosaic of the film Short Cuts, which is based on these nine stories and a poem, 'Lemonade', I've tried to do the same thing- to give the audience one look... But it all began here. I was a reader turning these pages. Trying on these lives' - Robert Altman in his introduction.

While helicopters overhead spray against a Medfly infestation, a group of peoples' lives in Los Angeles intersect, some casually, some to more lasting effect. While they go out to concerts and jazz clubs and even have their pools cleaned, these same folks also lie, drink, and cheat. Death itself seems never to be far away. A look at human life and American culture with over 20 lives interweaving.

Nine stories reformed into a screenplay consider aspects of the relationships between men and women

Ce volume comprend 19 articles dont 7 sont consacrés au film d'Altman ou à une analyse comparative du film et des nouvelles de Carver. Les autres articles traitent exclusivement des textes de Carver (9 nouvelles et un poème) mais dans des perspectives très différentes, qui incluent l'approche linguistique dans le cadre de la théorie des opérations énonciatives. Dans les nouvelles de Carver comme dans le film d'Altman, on vit dans le monde contemporain et quotidien : couples en détresse, conflits et retrouvailles, petites mesquineries et crimes ignobles, jalousie et génésité... On passe des cris aux rires puis aux larmes et aussi d'une séquence filmique ou narrative à une autre, d'une nouvelle à une autre. La question de la fragmentation et de la continuité se pose dans les deux œuvres, de même que celle de la représentation du réel (mimésis, indirection, ellipse) ou encore du ton (empathie ? ironie ? dérision ?). Carver comme Altman se sont posé la même question qui séduit encore lecteurs et spectateurs : comment rendre compte du quotidien et du banal, Carver dirait " de ce qui importe " ? Les réponses apportées sont différentes et peuvent même être radicalement opposées (foisonnement du film ; économie des nouvelles, par exemple) mais à aucun moment elles ne sont indifférentes.

In his second collection, including the iconic and much-referenced title story featured in the Academy Award-winning film Birdman, Carver establishes his reputation as one of the most celebrated short-story writers in American literature—a haunting meditation on love, loss, and companionship, and finding one's way through the dark.

With this, his first collection of stories, Raymond Carver breathed new life into the American short story. Carver shows us the humor and tragedy that dwell in the hearts of ordinary people; his stories are the classics of our time. "[Carver's stories] can ... be counted among the masterpieces of American Literature." --The New York Times Book Review "One of the great short story writers of our time--of any time." --The Philadelphia Inquirer "The whole collection is a knock out. Few writers can match Raymond Carver's entangling style and language." --The Dallas Morning News

Puisque nous évoquons des tensions, soulignons, au fil du rasoir, celle qui, peut-être trop évidente, se trouve au cœur de la publication de Short Cuts et qui par conséquent, informe les écrits qui suivent ; « Short Cuts : Selected Stories » est un recueil et n'en est pas un. Les neuf nouvelles et le poème, soumis à notre analyse, sont extraits (arrachés) à d'autres ouvrages. Si Carver ne cessait de remanier sa production, de sorte qu'il n'est pas rare de trouver des versions différentes et autrement regroupées de ses œuvres dans des recueils successifs, tel n'est toutefois pas le cas avec ce volume. Regroupement et titre sont ici le seul fait d'Altman qui, responsable éditorial pour l'occasion, nous donne ainsi à voir la substance première de son film de plus de trois heures : Short Cuts : les Américains. Il faut donc lire, au lieu de (ou plutôt en même temps que) « Short Cuts : Selected Stories » by Raymond Carver, « Short Cuts : Stories Selected » by Robert Altman.

Here is the original manuscript of Raymond Carver ' s seminal 1981 collection, What We Talk About When We Talk About Love. Carver is one of the most celebrated short-story writers in American literature—his style is both instantly recognizable and hugely influential—and the pieces in What We Talk About . . ., which portray the gritty loves and lives of the American working class, are counted among the foundation stones of the contemporary short story. In this unedited text, we gain insight into the process of a great writer. These expansive stories illuminate the many dimensions of Carver ' s style, and are indispensable to our understanding of his legacy. Text established by William L. Stull and Maureen P. Carroll

Raymond Carver ' s third collection of stories, a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize, including the canonical titular story about blindness and learning to enter the very different world of another. These twelve stories mark a turning point in Carver ' s work and “ overflow with the danger, excitement, mystery and possibility of life. . . . Carver is a writer of astonishing compassion and honesty. . . . his eye set only on describing and revealing the world as he sees it. His eye is so clear, it almost breaks your heart ” (Jonathan Yardley, Washington Post Book World).
