Teaching is both an art and a science.

William Butler Yeats said, "Education is not the filling of the pail, but the lighting of the fire" ("Famous Quotes", 1998-2010). I believe education is both the lighting of the flame and the filling of the pail. The art of education lights the fire. Students learn best the things they love.

Reflecting about this as a student teacher, I think it is a good idea to be teaching in the first week instead of observing for the initial period of the student teaching internship. I don't think it is a 'sink or swim' scenario, but it is a good idea to get into teaching directly with the kids and enables the student teacher to interact as soon as possible with the kids.
