Satir Transformational Systemic Therapy

The Satir Change Model was developed by Virginia Satir, a family therapist, and author. The model was designed to help people improve the way they cope with major, unexpected change. Although the model was originally developed for family therapy, it also applies to how people cope with organizational change. Managers and leaders can use the model to understand how their teams cope with change as they undergo it.

According to Banmen (1986), Satir's model of family therapy is based on a general systems theory. Banmen stated, "Satir's system describes a set of actions, reactions, and interactions among a set of variables essential to a single outcome and develops an order and a sequence among these variables to accomplish the desired outcome" (p. 482).

Virginia Satir (1916 – 1988) was one such person when she became one of the founders of the family therapy movement. She saw her first family in 1951 which was, at that time, against the therapeutic “rules” of the day. She taught her first family therapy courses at the Mental Research Institute in California, U.S.A., in 1959.

Satir Transformational Systemic Therapy in Brief

Virginia Satir’s Change Model describes the change patterns she saw during therapy with families. In my experience, the patterns she describes occur with any group of people when confronted by change. I use this model to select how to help a group make a successful transformation from an Old Status Quo to a New Status Quo.
