"True Enough: Learning to Live in a Post-fact Society" is a lament for the widespread absence of impartiality in the public mind vis-à-vis major issues affecting the lives of Americans. In a rare departure from the norm the author states clearly (although very late in the book) what he is trying to do:

Upton Sinclair, one of America's foremost and most prolific authors, addresses the cultivation of the mind and the body in this 1922 volume. Sinclair's goal was to attempt to tell the reader how to live, how to find health, happiness and success, and how to develop fully both the mind and the body. Part One: The Book of the Mind covers such subjects as faith, reason, morality, and the subconscious. Part Two: The Book of the Body develops such subjects as errors in diet, the fasting cure, food and poisons, work and play, and diseases and their cures .

The Alpha Book will explain the traits of an alpha, including charisma, the process of making strong and rightful decisions, how to best communicate with others at multiple levels, and how to turn your daily actions into fruitful prospects. Each of these traits is going to be explained in separate chapters, followed by examples of how to develop them in a creative way and apply them in your day-to-day activities.

Only nineteen years old, Nameh is already one of the best Guardians in the Academy. No one at the Academy, not even her best friend, knows about her dark past. Unsatisfied with her challenges as a Guardian, she finds herself searching for ancient magic, forbidden to her. Struggling to control the magic she now possesses, time is running short as the dark forces of the Guild are gaining in power and there are those who say that open war between the Guild and the Vine is just a matter of time. Knowing that something must be done to protect her world, Nameh and her newfound friends set out on a journey to find the Vine to gain whatever knowledge and protection from the Guild they may offer. The further they go, Nameh finds herself not only in near constant battle, but also questioning her heart - perhaps she will find more than friendship, but does she dare to confess that, even to herself? Approx. 21000 words

Been Down This Mountain Long Enough, is about a twenty-nine years old female who struggles to find courage in discovering her paths to freedom, independence, being in her own skin, and becoming a woman who is no longer uncomfortable with the fear of living and raising her daughters alone, which begins with getting out of the destructive relationship she is involved with an older man. In this novel, she shares her experience as an unstable and vulnerable young single parent in her quest to achieve that which society considers the "normal or moral" family establishment or accomplishment. However, the more she tried to achieve that status, the more she failed because she was making men, lust and unhealthy relationships priority. This book does not serve as a guide nor does it provide advice to women about their lives or relationships, but rather only a fictional story about one woman's experience.

Two months into a solo source-to-sea navigation of the Amazon river, adventurer, Davey du Plessis, was ambushed and shot within the isolated jungles of Peru. The adventure turned into an intense moment-to-moment struggle to survive as he made his way, wounded, through the dense jungle, seeking rescue and safety. Choosing To Live is Davey's personal account of his Amazon experience. He retells the remarkable story with an endearing openness, while sharing unique insights into the power of compassion and his ability to maintain motivation in his balance between life and death.
